LEHIGH DISTRICT 2026 FIRST AID MEET

Scenario #1: The Painting

Scenario: Your patrol finds a device, an Omni, while hiking at Gettysburg National Military Park. One of the Scouts opens the device and the patrol travels through time. The patrol lands just before sunset and the area has a lot of open fields, but something seems awfully familiar. The Scout holding the Omni notices the light, which was green, is now red. Your patrol sees a lone building to the north, and it resembles the White House. You look at the Omni and the date on the device shows August 24, 1814. As the patrol heads towards the White House, a Scout notices British Troops approaching the White House. Your patrol then sees a group of people fleeing from the White House. Your patrol runs to the fleeing people to join them and upon approaching the patrol overhears a gentleman say “yes, Mrs. Madison”.

One of the patrol members remembers from history class that on the evening of August 25, 1814, the White House was burned by the British and that First Lady Dolley Madison had saved the 8-foot-tall portrait of George Washington which was painted by Gilbert Stuart. The patrol approaches Mrs. Madison and asks if she got the painting of George Washington. Mrs. Madison says “No”.

The patrol leader politely recommends to Mrs. Madison that the painting of George Washington should be saved for the good of the country. Mrs. Madison agrees and says “Save that picture, if possible” to a young 15-year-old servant, Paul Jennings, “if not possible, destroy it, under no circumstance allow it to fall into the hands of the British”. Jennings and two men, steward Jean Pierre Sioussat and gardener Thomas McGaw, race back to the White House to grab the painting.

A short time passes, and the three men return with the painting, but you notice Paul Jennings has partial thickness (2nd degree) burns to both palms of his hands and a 2” oozing laceration below the right elbow. He states he received the burns while fleeing the White House with the painting. A member of the fleeing party rushes over to Jennings and says that he has butter for the burns and leeches to help with any infections. The patrol grabs their first aid kit and offers to treat Jennings’ injuries. A local citizen states there is a doctor a mile down the road that someone can go get.
